

KIDS FLOWER GARDEN KIT

SUGGESTED SUPPLIES

With notes and ideas

Small squirt bottle. Dollar store or Walmart has the small ones in the hair care section.

A few almond in shells for pretend seeds. Good for tiny fingers. Easy to find & reuse.

Heavy Ziploc bag or any container to hold seeds . Use the printable label.

Large metal spoon for digging. You can of course get child sized spades etc. if desired.

Fake flowers from dollar store. Get the type that have longer sturdy stems so they stick in the ground easily and stand up. A bouquet type will work if they have longer stems. You just have to cut the flowers off at the base with a wire cutter.

Plastic bugs. Dollar stores usually have these. Fun addition!

Small plastic or clay flower pots. Dollar store or Walmart.

Tongue depressors, popsicle sticks or regular small sticks for gluing flower signs on. Walmart, craft store or dollar store. I even used wood clothes pins to clip onto the pots.

Printed labels from this kit for flower stakes and seed bag. Print the flower tags on white cardstock if possible.

Hot glue, spray glue or some way to affix labels to sticks and plastic bag.

Box to use as a tote. You can also find cheap plastic totes at the stores. You want something a child can easily carry. If you use a box as I did you need some empty TP rolls and or cups to glue inside.

Dirt They need a spot with some soft clean dirt they can dig in. You can also buy small bags of potting soil for really cheap.

Print this label and affix it with glue or tape onto the zip lock quart bag with the almond nuts in it.
